

Message from the Commissioner of the Civil Aid Service, Mr Pang Wing-seng, Victor, MH, JP

Looking back at 2025, the Civil Aid Service (CAS) faced numerous significant challenges, including the onslaught of Super Typhoon Ragasa, the emergency evacuation following the discovery of a wartime bomb in Quarry Bay, the response to the fire at Wang Fuk Court in Tai Po, crowd management at the 15th National Games and the subsequent 12th National Games for Persons with Disabilities and the 9th National Special Olympic Games, and crowd management for the Legislative Council General Election. Every operation bore witness to the dedication and professionalism of CAS members. Our members remained steadfast at their posts, putting into practice our motto of “Serving the Community with Passion, Courage and Commitment” through their actions.

Young people are the future of our society. The work of the CAS Cadet Corps not only instils discipline and skills, but also nurtures values and a sense of national identity. Through a wide range of training and exchange activities, we aim to foster in our cadets a sense of responsibility, teamwork, and belonging towards the country, so that they may grow into pillars of society with a strong sense of duty and an international outlook.

Looking ahead, we will continue to move forward under the guiding principle of “upholding fundamental principles while breaking new ground and pursuing sustainable development”. Embracing the spirit of the galloping horse, we will forge ahead with resolve, responding proactively to an ever-changing environment and the increasingly complex challenges that lie ahead. I am confident that with the concerted efforts of all our members, the CAS will continue to safeguard Hong Kong and contribute to our nation.
